Victoria

"My bike is my freedom," declares the voluptuous Victoria. "There really is nothing like cycling through the countryside, feeling the wind in my hair, and taking in all those natural smells. Sure, lots of guys try it on, whether they're on foot, on horseback or behind the wheel of a car, but I'm very particular when it comes to lovers. Just last month, while riding down a leafy lane, three cars slowed down to look me over. The funny thing was, they all ended up smashing into one another. I just smiled and cycled on!"

Kelly

"I like a man who's prepared to be adventurous and a whole lotta fun," states Kelly, a blonde who knows exactly what she wants. "I recently met two guys at a party. One looked really wild and interesting, while the other came across as a bit staid. Well, I danced with the exciting-looking one first. I was surprised to find that he moved like a lead balloon and had nothing to say for himself. Then I had a dance with the less adventurous-looking guy. Now, he really knew how to dance, and how to hold a lady. He also started to crack jokes about the other dancers, and had me in hysterics. Even so, I still couldn't ignore the bulge in his pants! Anyway, I whisked him back to my place where he got even more adventurous – and that was certainly no joke!"

Kara is a lady who takes her modelling profession very seriously. "It's funny," she says, "how when you first start to model you think you're going to be all self-conscious. But I've found that taking my clothes off in front of the camera has given me greater pride in my body. I mean, I've always enjoyed showing off my body to guys, but now that I do it for a living, I feel that everyone's getting a good deal. My original plan was to become an actress, but no one would take me seriously. Besides, I found a lot of the people to be phoneys. In this business, people are far more on the level." Well, that's nice to hear, Kara. And, rest assured, we'll always take your body very seriously indeed!

Stephi

"My most exciting sexual experience? Wow! What can I say?" Stephi replied, laughing when we posed the question. "Anything you like," we said. "Okay," she went on, "There was this time when I was in the transit lounge at Caracas Airport in Venezuela. There was this amazingly good-looking guy who was also hanging around, waiting for his connecting flight. He chatted me up and I felt this amazing attraction to him. Before I knew what was happening, he was guiding me towards a nappy changing room. Once inside, he stripped me naked and made me bend over forwards while he made love to me from behind. It was so incredibly sexy that I almost didn't hear my flight being called. Well, I just made it with seconds to spare. I think that was my most exciting sexual experience – and I didn't even learn his name!"

Cleo

Cleo adores anything Egyptian, and has always had a fascination for Cleopatra ever since a trip to the British Museum. "I would've loved to have lived all those years ago," she says with a wistful look in her eye. "I would've loved to have been a princess or a goddess of love, and wouldn't have even minded being a slave girl! I even treat my men like kings, pampering them and giving them anything they desire, from foam baths, in not quite ass' milk, to massages with exotic oils. I love to dress the part, but I like my man to wear nothing more than a leather thong, so that I can see what he's really made of. Personally, I go for the strong, silent type – rippling muscles and, hopefully, a bulging thong!"

"My favourite fetish?" remarked Joanne when we put the question to her. "What makes you think I have any?" she added, giggling. "Well, now that you ask, I guess I just have to say that it's food. Yes, food! There's just so much you can do with food." We asked her to elaborate. "Well, for starters, there's always sushi. All that squidgy raw fish can really arouse your sexual instincts, if placed on the right part of the body. Then there's all kinds of fruit, like strawberries and grapes. They're always good for some fruity fun! And when it comes to the main course, well, I'm afraid you'll just have to use your imagination!" Just when we were getting a little peckish too.
